Re: RA300 series FDA Approved Tank Lining

Dear Mr Khorasani,

Further to our telephone conversation I can confirm we successfully internally lined a 5800m<sup>2</sup> sugar juice storage tank with your FDA resin approved glass flake vinyl ester system. Our client insisted upon an FDA system due to the products use in the food industry and a glass flake vinyl ester was specified due to the elevated temperature at which the product entered the vessel.

I am pleased to report that the whole project ran extremely smoothly without the tip blockages and general spraying problems we had previously experienced with other manufacturers glass flake vinyl ester materials.

Importantly, the tank, completed in July 2007, has recently been emptied and cleaned, and the client is satisfied with the performance of the lining to date.

We will not hesitate to use the same system for all our future requirements in the food industry.

Yours sincerely
